

FURTHER NEWS OF CRIME AGAINST PARKS

EYE-WITNESS TELLS OF EXECUTION OF AMERICAN INFANTRYMAN

Americans Arriving in Vera Cruz Claim That Much of the Defeat of the Federals at Tampico Can Be Attributed to Heavy Rain Storm Which Favored Rebels.—Mediators Arrive in Washington.

VERA CRUZ, May 16.—Additional confirmation of the execution of Private Samuel Parks, of the twenty-fifth infantry, was received today. There was brought into the American lines of Huerta's concepts who had deserted. He said he was an eye witness of the execution of Parks. Reports from Mexico City, brought by the refugees described President Huerta as enjoying daily rides through the streets of the capital and the Chapultepec woods and his frequent appearances at the cafes and restaurants, accompanied by only one or two aides or intimate friends. In the face of this apparent nonchalance, however, the usual rumors of Huerta's flight are circulated here.

Too great indulgence in the desire to make money out of the situation according to Mexicans from Cordoba, what brought about the substitution of General Maas by General Garza Pena as commander of the federal forces in front of Vera Cruz. They declare that General Maas had been confiscating corn and coffee and selling these to interior points at high prices.

A heavy rain storm which flooded the trenches and blew blinding torrents into the faces of the federals, contributed much to their defeat at Tampico, according to Americans who have come here from that port. After the first day's fighting the federals appeared to be weakening, but still resisted. Over-night they made preparations for a retreat. Trains stood in readiness, with steam up.

At eight o'clock the next morning great rain storm from the eastward drove the federals from the trenches. The constitutionalists took advantage of this and poured a terrific fire into them forcing them back from the outskirts into the town. Immediately the federals began retreating.

Gunboat Vera Cruz Beached.

The gunboat Vera Cruz, struck by constitutionalist shells, was run up to the river and beached. Soldiers and crew remained aboard waiting for trains, which soon passed the points filled to their utmost capacity with fleeing federals. The other gunboats moved down the river, firing a few shells as they went. The federals burned the barracks before evacuating, destroying a large quantity of ammunition.

There was little actual disorder and little looting. Several persons engaged in looting were shot. During the early part of the action federals raided the Southern hotel, taking all arms and money found. The German Consul R. E. Eversch, accompanied by the American Vice-Consul Thomas P. Bevan, proceeded through the residential district and placed German seals on all the houses. In their retreat the federals opened the draw bridge on the Santa Luis Potosi line at the edge of the city and crippled the machine gun. They proceeded to Elanillo two miles west where they planned to cross over into the state of Vera Cruz by a pantoon bridge, which they had previously constructed. It is reported they were surrounded at that place by the constitutionalist def. General Aguilar, who had moved up from the south with a heavy force.

Tampico is now quiet; the stores have been re-opened and Americans are returning on every steamer.

Details of Thrilling Battle.

Durango, Mex., May 16.—Graphic details of a thrilling battle between an aeroplane and a warship ending the rout of the latter were received by General Carranza in a message from the constitutionalist forces now besieging Mazatlan.

For days the federal gunboats on the coast have been one of the most effective defenses of the Huerta stronghold, her shells repeatedly defeating efforts of General Obregon to take the city by assault.

As a last resort an aeroplane was sent against the warship. Circling high above the harbor, the frail craft dropped bomb after bomb upon the decks of the gunboat, not only silencing her guns but driving the riflemen who were firing at the birdman from the decks.

With her upper works, the bridge and the bulwarks of the vessel ripped away and in flames, the captain was forced to put to sea in a desperate effort to escape destruction.

The aeroplane hung in the air while the ship in an effort to drop a bomb down one of the smokestacks where it would complete the work of destruction.

The bombs, however, did not reach vital parts of the ship and under the draft she finally drew beyond the radius of the aeroplane's gasolene supply.

Rebels Take City of Tepic.

Juarez, Mex., May 16.—General Carranza telegraphed today from Juarez the news that the constitutionalist General Lucio Blanco and Rafael Beltrán had taken the city of Tepic, capital of the state of Jalisco, after a severe engagement lasting more than 24 hours. The number of killed and wounded was not given. The message also stated that the constitutionalists had taken the town of Santiago, Coahuila and the town of San Blas.

Washington, May 16.—The arrival here this afternoon of General Huerta's representatives to the mediation conference to open at Niagara Falls, Canada, next Wednesday, gave the most tangible evidence of the efforts to compose the Mexican conflict. As the three Mexicans, Senors Rabasa, Rodriguez and Elguero with their families and a numerous official suite, descended from the train, they were met by the Spanish ambassador, Don Juan Riano, and presented to the officials of the state department and the three mediators. A curious crowd looked on respectfully as the Mexicans were escorted to automobiles and taken to a hotel.

Tonight the Mexican delegates were the guests of honor at a dinner in the Spanish embassy. Other guests were the three mediators, Ambassador de Gama of Brazil and Minister Nason of Argentina and Suarez of Chile and the commissioners of the United States, Justice Joseph R. Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, with the American Secretary, H. Percival Dodge, and numerous Spanish and American officials.

CONVICTED LABOR LEADERS HAVE THREE WEEKS MORE OF LIBERTY

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Orders Them to Surrender to Prison Warden June 6th.

Chicago, May 16.—The twenty-four labor leaders sentenced in the "dynamiting cases" who are at liberty on bonds have but three more weeks of liberty. The United States circuit court of appeals today ordered them to surrender June 6th, to the warden of the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans., or be taken to the penitentiary from Chicago on that day. The order will affect only nineteen of the twenty-four men, five of them having returned voluntarily to the penitentiary after the United States circuit court of appeals denied them a new trial. They are: Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill.; Frank C. Webb, New York; Philip A. Connelley, New Orleans; John T. Butler, Buffalo and Edward Smythe of Peoria.

Elijah Zollin of counsel for the defendants pleaded for time before the remanding order went into effect. Only a pardon from President Wilson can now save the convicted men from serving their sentences, which range from one to six years. Mr. Zollin said he had presented the president with a petition carrying nearly a half million signatures.

The court also took under advisement cases of Olaf Tveitmo of San Francisco; Richard H. Houlahan of Chicago and William Bernhardt of Cincinnati.

These three were granted new trials and arguments were made today on the government's petition for a re-hearing of their cases and the sustenance of the lower court's conviction.

Those Ordered to Prison.

Those ordered to prison were: Frank M. Ryan, Chicago, seven years; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, six years; Michael J. Young, Boston, six years; John H. Barry, St. Louis, four years; Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis, three years; Henry W. Leggett, Denver, three years; George Anderson, Cleveland, three years; Frank J. Higgins, Boston, three years; Fred J. Mooney, Chicago, one year; William Shupe, Chicago, one year; Ernest G. W. Baser, Indianapolis, three years; J. E. Munsey, Lake City, six years; Peter J. Smith, Cleveland, four years; Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis, three years; William E. Reddin, Milwaukee, three years; Michael J. Hannon, Scranton, Pa., three years; W. Bert Brown, Kansas City, three years; Michael J. Cunape, Philadelphia, three years; Frank K. Painter, Omaha, three years.

William J. McCain, James E. Ray and Fred Sherman were granted new trials and the cases against Olaf A. Tveitmo, Richard H. Houlahan and William C. Bernhardt are still pending.

MAN WANTED AT PEORIA IS ARRESTED IN KENTUCKY

John S. Garrett Charged With Giving Fraudulent Mortgage to Obtain $18,000.

Middlesboro, Ky., May 16.—John S. Garrett of Chicago was arrested at Pineville, Ky., by Sheriff Rufus Wilson on a charge of having given a fraudulent mortgage to obtain eighteen thousand dollars. He is wanted on this charge at Peoria, Ill. It is alleged that Garrett operated land deals in Montana.

Disappeared From Chicago.

Chicago, May 17.—John H. Garrett, arrested in Pineville, Ky., disappeared from Chicago two weeks ago just before the federal grand jury began an investigation of his affairs. He was wanted in Peoria charged with selling a forged mortgage to the State Trust and Savings Bank. He will be returned to that city.

Garrett is said to have come from West Virginia and to have aided in building the towns of Mountain Home, Idaho and Harlowtown, Mont., while interested in irrigation projects in the west.

More recently he came to Chicago and opened offices. He sold and discounted farm mortgages, not only here but in numerous other cities. His sales are said to have amounted to nearly $1,000,000. None of these mortgages was found at fault until the Peoria bank complained that the one in their possession was not legal.

Garrett then left Chicago for the south, registering it is said, from Sioux City, Iowa. He was arrested in Wickliffe, Ky., but was allowed to go by the sheriff.

Since leaving Chicago he is said to have been connected with a wagon circus.

MUCH WORK YET ON REPEAL BILL

MANY AMENDMENTS TO BE DISPOSED OF BEFORE BILL IS VOTED ON

It is Not Believed the Senate Will Pass the Measure as it Came From the House—Opponents of Proposed Legislation are Confident They Will Surprise Administration Leaders.

SATURDAY IN CONGRESS.

House.

Met at 11 a. m.

Debate on diplomatic appropriation bill resumed.

Democratic members of rules committee conferred over anti-trust procedure next week.

Attorney General C. J. West of Oklahoma told inter-state commerce committee oil pipe lines should be under inter-state commerce law as common carriers.

Adjourned at 2 p. m. until noon Monday.

Senate.

Met at 11 a. m.

Passed resolution for investigation of continental railroads and coastwise shipping.

Manufacturers committee ordered hearing next week on bill forbidding importation of convict-made goods.

Adjourned at 2:10 p. m. until 11 a. m. Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Although many senators are yet to speak on the bill to repeal the exemption clause of the Panama canal act, Senator Kern, the majority leader was hopeful tonight that a vote might be taken May 25th. Advocates of repeal say they expect to pass the bill by a safe majority, but those opposed are confident they will surprise administration leaders.

Before the bill is voted upon the many amendments which will be offered will have to be disposed of. It is generally believed the bill cannot be passed exactly as it came from the house. Senators who have led the repeal fight are expected to concentrate their efforts on the amendment offered by Senator Simmons and adopted by the inter-oceanic canal commission which declares the United States in repealing the exemption clause waives no rights over the canal.

Senator Walsh today closed debate for the week with a speech against repeal. The senator was secretary of the sub-committee of the Baltimore convention which framed the Democratic platform. He repudiated as unfounded any suggestion that the tolls plank was inserted surreptitiously and said Secretary of State Bryan, a co-worker on the platform, had full knowledge of this plank. He said it was significant Attorney General McReynolds had expressed no opinion regarding the question of tolls. Mr. Walsh was the eighth senator to speak on tolls during the week.

Senator Walsh detailed the history of the tolls plank in the Baltimore platform. After relating how it was considered by a sub-committee headed by W. J. Bryan and then by another sub-committee over the entire platform committee and finally the entire platform committee Senator Walsh related two incidents "indicating that the plank had the particular attention of the committee." There were an amendment suggested by Mr. Bryan adding the railroad owned ship clause and substituting the words "exemption from tolls" for free tolls.

He declared the tolls exemption was not a subsidy in the offensive sense.

"While I remain convinced that no treaty restrains our action," said he, "I am under no temptation to escape from the trammels of the platform under the purely suggestion that the plank in question is contradicted by another that declares against subsidies requiring a choice as between the two."

Wilson Will Oppose Changes.

President Wilson will oppose the changes in the pending anti-trust bills advocated by labor leaders to make more explicit the exemption of labor unions from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The subject was discussed tonight at the white house at a conference between the president and Representatives Clayton, Webb and Carlin of the house judiciary committee. Mr. Wilson told them he agreed with them on thinking the Clayton bill now before the house went far enough.

The president was told that trade union members of the house were consulted before the drawing up of the Clayton bill and that they fully approved of its provisions at that time.

The entire subject of anti-trust legislation was gone over at the conference and the committee members told the president that after the special rule for the consideration of the bills was brought in Tuesday little trouble was anticipated by administration supporters.

STATUE OF COMMODORE BARRY IS UNVEILED

Impressive Ceremonial at Franklin Park in New York—"Father of American Navy."

Washington, May 16.—The imposing statue of Commodore John Barry, whom some historians designated as the "Father of the American Navy," was unveiled in Franklin park today with simple but impressive exercises. Commodore Barry was a native of Ireland, in consequence of which the Irish-American societies were given a leading part in the plans for honoring his memory. In the parade were visiting delegations of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Irish-American Historical society and other Irish organizations in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities. In the unveiling ceremonies the national heads of these organizations took a prominent part.

Most of the dignitaries in Washington attended the unveiling. President Wilson was one of the speakers and Secretary of the Navy Daniels were given the place as presiding officer. To Miss Alisa Hepburn of Philadelphia, a great grandniece of Commodore Barry, was assigned the task of pulling the silken cord that released the covering and showed the famous naval hero as the sculptor has moulded him. The Marine band, in its uniform of scarlet and blue, furnished the musical portions of the program. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the naval salute of 21 guns was fired.

Practically all the available naval and military force near Washington participated in the parade before the unveiling and passed in review before President Wilson. In the naval column was included the entire brigade of midshipmen from Annapolis. In all Brig. Gen. Albert M. Mills, U. S. A., grand marshal of the day, had a force of more than 2,000 officers and men, among whom were detachments of troops from Washington barracks, Fort Washington and Fort Myer.

Around the monument stands had been erected for the accommodation of a thousand or more spectators. Reservations were made for most of the prominent officers of the army and navy in Washington, members of the senate and house and the representatives of the Irish societies that participated in the program.

The statue cost $43,000 and was erected as the result of an appropriation by congress. John J. Boyle, a New York sculptor, designed the statue, which represents Commodore Barry standing erect in full naval uniform, with a great cape falling from his shoulders and his right hand resting on the sword which stands in front of him. The only inscription on the memorial is: "John Barry, Commodore of the United States Navy. Born County Wexford, Ireland, 1745. Died in Philadelphia, 1803."

The movement to honor the memory of Commodore Barry with a statue in the national capital was inaugurated some eight years ago, about the time that the remains of Paul Jones, the other early hero of the American navy, were returned to this country from France. Barry was the senior, the commanding officer of the navy, and at one time Jones served under him.

Barry came to the United States from his native Ireland when 15 years of age, and as he had elected to make the sea his profession, naturally went to Philadelphia, at that time the leading seaport of the new world. He soon established a high reputation as a mariner and at the beginning of the revolution he was considered one of the most competent men in the country to take a place or power in the infant navy. He consequently received a commission to command the brig Lexington of sixteen guns.

The ship left Philadelphia in 1776 and was the first vessel to fly the Continental flag. To this distinction the Lexington soon added the glory of capturing the first vessel ever taken by an American warship in an engagement. The action lasted about an hour and four of Barry's crew were killed. This is said to have been the first blood shed in the naval service of the United States.

Near the close of the revolution Barry was in command of the Alliance and the engagement of that vessel with the British ships Atlanta and Trepassy was the most notable battle of his career. Notwithstanding that his flag carried away and he himself seriously wounded, Commodore Barry forced both of the British ships to surrender.

On the revival of the American navy in 1794, preparatory to the struggle with the Barbary powers, Barry was named the senior of six frigates to the new frigates called into service. He served till the age of 58 he died in Philadelphia. His remains lie in the venerable St. Mary's churchyard in the Quaker City.

PRESIDENT WILSON WARNS GOV. AMMONS

COLORADO MUST BE PREPARED TO MAINTAIN PEACE WITHOUT AID

President's Message to Colorado Executive Declares Federal Troops Will Remain in Strike Districts Only Until State Has Time and Opportunity to Resume Control.

Denver, Colorado, May 16.—President Wilson served warning on Governor Ammons today that the state of Colorado must be prepared to maintain peace in the mine strike districts without federal aid. The president said that federal troops would remain in the troubled districts, "only until the state of Colorado has time and opportunity to resume complete sovereignty and control."

"I cannot conceive that the state is willing to forego her sovereignty or to throw herself entirely upon the government of the United States," said President Wilson. Governor Ammons telegraphed the president, pointing out that an extra session of the legislature just adjourned, had provided a $1,000,000 bond issue to cover past and future expenses of the state militia. The governor expressed confidence that as soon as these funds are available, the state would be able to control the situation.

The mine districts where approximately 1,000 miners have been on strike since last September 23rd, have been under a virtual martial law for several months and have been guarded by United States cavalry for about three weeks. Previous to the arrival of federal troops the mines were guarded by the state militia.

It was during the control by the militia that riots and battles between strikers and mine guards broke out. After the militia and strikers participated in the battle and fire at the miners tent colony at Ludlow on April 20th, when 21 people were killed and after other serious conflicts the militia was replaced by federal troops.

Of the $1,000,000 provided by the bond part will go to the militia.

Wilson's Telegram.

President Wilson in his telegram said he was "disturbed to hear of the probability of the adjournment of your legislature and feel bound to remind you that constitutional obligations in regard to the maintenance of order in Colorado are not to be indefinitely continued by the inaction of the state legislature."

Gov. Ammons's Reply.

The governor's reply was: "I regret exceedingly that you have been misinformed. The legislature has just passed an act, which I have approved, providing for a bond issue of $1,000,000 for the purpose of paying the indebtedness which has been incurred in suppressing insurrection and defending the state."

The governor's call convening an extra session of the legislature May 14th, asked the enactment of five measures. Of these the following bills were passed:

Providing a bond issue of $1,000,000 to cover past and future expenses of the militia. Giving the governor authority to close saloons in times of internal disorder without declaring martial law. Authorizing the governor to prohibit the sale or purchase of fire arms by unauthorized persons in times of internal disorder. The two measures included in the call which were defeated were a constitutional amendment for the enactment of a compulsory arbitration act and a bill establishing a state police force. There are in Colorado approximately 1,700 United States troops.

Asked if he thought the militia could handle the situation if federal troops were withdrawn the governor said:

"I hope it will not be necessary to use the militia again. I hope that before the federal soldiers are withdrawn, the federal administration can help us to procure an adjustment of the strike controversy."

Acts Not Sufficient.

That the acts of the legislature are not sufficient to cope with the strike situation in case the federal troops are withdrawn, was the substance of a minority report adopted by members of the senate and telegraphed to President Wilson.

"We believed that the measures passed by the legislature at this session at inadequate to meet the situation in this state," said the report addressed to the president.

"We protest our sincere desire to alleviate conditions. We deplore the necessity of your telegram to Governor Ammons and the condition that makes necessary a reminder to the governor of Colorado by the chief executive of the nation that the state is derelict in its duty in the premises."

MILLIKIN WINS FROM ILLINOIS

ANNEXES ANNUAL DUAL TRACK
MEET 66 TO 43.

Illinois Finds Fast Company in
Bunch of Athletes From Decatur
School—List of Events and Winners.

Millikin had no trouble in winning the dual track meet from Illinois college Saturday afternoon on Illinois field. The points stood 66 to 43. Tension as usual proved a fast man for the visitors and Reeder of Decatur excelled in the weights. Wilson was a good point winner for Jacksonville and in his defeat of Cox of Millikin in the 440 yard dash covered the distance in 53 4-5 seconds. Frisbie ran neck to neck with Tension in the 220 yard hurdles but Tension beat him out on the last sprint. Tension and Frisbie also engaged in a pretty race in the 220 yard hurdles, both men crossing the tape at the same time but Frisbie was disqualified because he knocked down four hurdles. Wilson of Illinois and Acker of Springfield both former students of the Springfield high school, ran the half mile in a sensational manner, Wilson being the winner, the time 2:06 4-5. Illinois was awarded the relay race because Acker fouled when he crowded Alford who had the pole and because Acker failed to touch Cox who ran the last relay for Millikin. Young appeared in good form for Illinois in the mile run, but failed to display his usual good form in the half mile and the broad jump.

The summary:
100 yard dash—First, Tension, M.; second, Cox, M. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

THE "SIX-AND-SIX" PLAN.

Emphatic approval of the "six-and-six" plan of school organization urged by the Inland Empire Teachers' association at their Spokane meeting was expressed by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education. "I know of no valid reason for the present plan of eight and four years of school," declared Dr. Claxton. "There should be six years of elementary school and six years of high school, the high-school period being divided into two sections of three years each."

There are many reasons for the change. Children 12 and 13 years old are at the beginning of the transition period between childhood and youth—they should not be kept doing elementary work. At present the public in most school systems mark time to a large extent through the 7th and 8th grades. This is especially true where the methods of the elementary schools are carried through these and the children are taught by women grade teachers. With a sixth-year elementary school it would be easily possible to promote the teachers with the children from grade to grade, thus gaining the large value that comes from teachers and children remaining together until the teacher knows the needs of the children, their strength, and their weakness, and can build intelligently on all the work of previous years.

Furthermore, to begin the high school with the seventh grade will make much easier the departmental work which should begin at least this low down. It will also make it much easier to begin work in such high school subjects as foreign languages, constructive geometry, and real literature, at this point where they should be begun. The study of languages, especially of modern languages, should be begun in a practical way before children have passed the time when they can learn in this way. This plan will also make it possible to introduce manual training, domestic science, and various forms of vocational work two years earlier than they are now begun.

Our secondary school work is now at a great disadvantage as compared with the work done in the Gynasien and Realschulen in Germany, the Lycees of France and the so-called public schools of England. By giving six years to the high school, the boys and girls who go to college may easily have, on admission to college, a much larger amount of mathematics, languages, and other subjects than they now have. I feel quite sure that by an arrangement of this kind and a little more care in the preparation and selection of teachers you may gain for most children two years in the twelve."

The division of the high school into two sections of three years each will make easier a second differentiation of work at the end of the first three high school years.

At present only about one-fourth of the children enter the high school. The compulsory school age in most states corresponds quite closely with the elementary school period. Parents and children are thereby confirmed in the idea that the elementary education is all that is needed. Besides, the break between the elementary school and the high school at this time suggests leaving school and makes it easier. If the break came at 12 or 13 the great majority of children would be in the high school, doing high school work under high school conditions, and probably a much larger proportion of them would continue in school than under present conditions.

The Inland Empire Teachers' association, which adopted the resolution favoring the new plan, enrolls about 2,000 teachers from the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana. The resolution passed unanimously.

POULTRY CULTURE.

Article XXXII.

Condition of Egg Production.—Factors in laying may be classed as primary (or essential) and secondary (or accidental). The prime factor in egg production is activity of the productive organs. The secondary factors are (1) nourishment, (2) regularity, (3) comfort, (4) constitution, (5) exercise, (6) cleanliness, (7) broodiness. These varying greatly in value, and ranking about in the order named.

Activity of the reproductive organs may be considered the direct cause of egg production. Without it not an egg is produced, though every other factor is sufficient; when it is present, eggs may be produced though every other factor is inadequate. It may be checked by failure of the secondary factors, but as long as it continues, eggs are produced even to exhaustion of the body and vitality. If the condition of the reproductive organs of the bird should be determined by observation, the poultry keeper might judge, with some approach to accuracy, the time that must elapse before a non-laying bird would begin to lay, but these organs are concealed within the body, and the only outward indications of their conditions are the development and color of the comb, and sometimes the increased activity of the hen and a "singling" as she bustles about. None of these signs, however, are infallible. The proof of activity of the reproductive organs is given only in eggs.

Nourishment.—An ill nourished bird may produce some eggs but cannot continue producing regularly for long periods. To lay well the bird must be mature, well nourished at the outset, physically sound able to digest much more food than required for its own maintenance, and must be fully supplied with food. With activity of the reproductive organs and these conditions of nourishment a bird may continue to lay, though other conditions are faulty; but no advantage in other conditions can long compensate for deficiency in the more essential. A common fallacy, now generally discarded by students of the subject makes activity of the reproductive organs dependent for its beginning as well for continuance upon a surplus of food of proper composition. That this view is erroneous is evident when, with opportunity to eat all that they wish, hens that are not laying eat lightly and keep fat on a light ration, and when, as the hens begin to lay, the amount of food consumed is greatly increased. This is most apparent with old hens that have failed, for a while, to lay under most favorable conditions, though stimulated in every possible way.

Regularity and Comfort.—These are so closely associated that they are not readily separated for consideration. The general physical condition of a creature is affected by the regularity or irregularity of its life. The reproductive organs seem especially susceptible to such influences.

A bird that is chilled can not keep warm in a temperature comfortable for a bird in perfect health. Heat which may not prostrate a bird may be debilitating, effect digestion and egg production. Cold which a bird withstands without marked physical discomfort may check laying. Moving a bird from one pen to another identical with it, and with all other conditions remaining the same often checks laying for days and may stop it for a long period. Disturbances in flocks on account of the presence of strange animals or persons, or unusual movements of attendants, often have an immediate and marked effect of decreasing egg production. Individual birds vary greatly in susceptibility to such influences, and the difference between small nervous hens like the Leghorns and Hamburgs, and large phlegmatic hens, like the Asiatics, is pronounced. These facts are accessible to anyone who will keep a record of egg production and of conditions which may affect it.—H. A. McKee, Secretary, Illinois Farmers' Institute.

THE CAR THAT STAYS NEW

Lesser-built cars may look as well, may run as well when new. But when others grow noisy. Reo the Fifth will stay silent. It will save you hundreds of dollars in the years to come in troubles, repairs and upkeep.

OUR EXTRA CARE.

Reo the Fifth, built by R. E. Olds, is based on 27 years of experience. It marks our final conception of what a car should be.

It is built for the future—for legions of users will say of us after five years.

We spend six weeks in building each car. And we add one-fourth to what the car would cost if built by other standards.

Each driving part is made one-half stronger than necessary. Each is tested to meet the requirements of a 50-horse-power engine.

OTHER TESTS

All steel is made to formula and each lot is analyzed twice. Gears are tested for 75,000 pounds per tooth. Springs are tested for 100,000 vibrations. Engines get five long and radical tests, and the tested engines are taken apart and inspected.

We use a clutch—to prevent gear clashing—which costs twice what others cost. We use 15 roller bearings and 190 drop forgings. We use over-size tires.

Then the cars are built slowly and carefully. Parts are fitted exactly. There are countless tests and inspections.

$220 SAVED.

Reo the Fifth, with electric start, used to cost $1,395. Our latest model—the handsomest car that ever went from this factory—costs $1,175 equipped, f. o. b. factory.

We have saved this largely by confining our output for years to this single chassis. Now all the special machinery for it has been charged against previous output, and this item comes off from our price.

This car is for men who want to save trouble, save upkeep, save repairs. It is for men who want years of perfect service. No other car in this class is built anywhere near like this.

Come judge this car by what you find inside.

GENERAL PHIL. H. SHERIDAN'S COUSIN
A MEMBER OF LOCAL POLICE FORCE*JOHN TUITE AND THE DASHING CAVALRY LEADER
SPRING FROM PROMINENT FARDOWN STOCK*Jacksonville and Morgan County Gold Mines For the
Up-to-Date Magazine Writers—This Field Rich in Pabulum For Interesting Historical Lore.

A soil most prolific in historic research is that upon which Jacksonville and Morgan county nestles on the map of the great prairie state of Illinois. There is more lore of the good old-fashioned gilt-edge kind to be dug up, mined and fashioned into good readable material than there can be discovered in any other section of this state, and, for that matter, in any other section of the United States of equal size and age.

Magazine writers and penny-antlers upon the metropolitan blanket sheets are prone to combat space in writing of the beauties of midland's latest sensational bathing outfit at Narragansett Pier, Newport, Rye Beach, etc., and of the caprices of the girl from the Bowery at Coney Island, Manhattan, Toad-de-loup and elsewhere. Stories are "padded out" and embellished with half tones and "washes" to describe the board walks and the denizens of these summer breathing spots to the congested populace of the big eastern cities on the occasion of their week's end outing. Much space is filled in describing the pitfalls, the poverty, crime, etc., nourished in these places. The gambling and its resultant terrors are greatly enlarged upon by these space writers—all to the reverse of accomplishing good within the minds of the young who are solicited to read these stories through the elaborate display of pictures accompanying them. If some of these magazine and special writers were to visit Jacksonville and other places in Morgan county their research would keep them in the running for months with foundations for historical data that would not only prove of interest to the older generation, but would be food for the minds of the younger set for years to come.

Here in Jacksonville, reposing beneath a beautiful monument, are the remains of the gallant General Hardin, who was killed at the battle of Buena Vista in the war with Mexico nearly sixty years ago. His deeds and his gallantry alone are worth a running serial in an up-to-date magazine, and especially so just now, when our government is sparing for an opening to land a knockout on Huerta. Mr. W. L. Fay of the Journal possesses the sword of Captain Zabriske, who was killed in the same battle. The history of that officer and of his sabre, too, would make interesting and instructive reading. There are other veterans of that conflict of sixty years ago here in Morgan county, and their reminiscences would be worth while if written up and presented to the "walls" of the east and other crowded sections. And then, in the matter of something different from war with its sharpnel, grape and cannister, etc., it would interest millions of people in this country to learn that Morgan county produced the pioneers of the fat (or as they were termed fifty years ago still fed) cattle industry. Uncle Jacob Strawn, George and John T. Alexander, of this county, with the Funks and Gillette of McLean county, set the world agog in those days when their products were sold in the livestock marts to enter into competition with John Bull in the markets of Liverpool and elsewhere in England. There are a thousand-and-one other foundations for interesting data hereabouts, among the veterans of the civil strife in the dark days of the sixties, etc.

One of these most interesting events relates to a member of Chief Davis' squad of "the finest," as they term the guardians of the peace in the metropolians. He is Officer John Tuite, the shy and unobtrusive custodian of star No. 33, who travels a beat about the square during the day, and who is a cousin of the gallant General Phil Sheridan, the hero of the ride into Winchester and many other cavalry charges during the war of the rebellion. General P. H. Sheridan's grandfather, also Phil Sheridan, and John Tuite's grandfather, John Sheridan, were first cousins, and were born and brought up in Ballamaque, County Cavan, Ireland, in the province of Ulster, consequently both the Sheridan and Officer 33 (no kin to George Cohan's renowned "Officer 666") families were "Fardowns." Like our own country, different parts of the "ould sod" are designated by nicknames. Natives of Illinois are called Suckers; Tarheels fits a Carolinian, etc. The people of the north of Ireland are Fardowns, those from Kerry, Buttermilks and from Kildare, Shortgrass, etc. General Sheridan's father and mother sold their leasehold in Ballamaque and migrated to this country, bringing two children and stopping at Albany, N. Y., in 1830. The future great cavalry commander was born there one year later, the third child of the Sheridan family. The remainder of the Sheridan, Tuite, Minor and Gainer families remained in Ireland for years after the departure of the parents of General Sheridan. These people were intermixed in marriage and were prominent in the county of Cavan as manufacturers, shopkeepers and as tillers of the soil. The old Sheridan home where the general's parents lived, on the Cherry-mount estate, was for years before John Tuite came to this country in 1882; and, as yet, the scene of the gathering place at harvesttime, when after the "falling" and gathering of the crops have been completed, the colleens and the gossoons gather to indulge in the light fantastic. Irish jigs, reels and come-all-ye's are allowed full swing until turf cutting in the bogs demand all of the time of the people to prepare the winter's fuel. John Tuite is no easy man to interview regarding anything concerning himself, but his kindly eyes flash when one mentions the jig and he softly pleads guilty to having a knowledge of how to shake his heel and toe and to keep in rhythm with the fiddle or the bagpipes.

Officer Tuite regrets that he was not old enough to enlist at the time of the war of the rebellion. Had he been, he would have crossed the pond and enlisted to fight side by side with his illustrious cousin, General Sheridan. Jocosely, John says if he could not shoot and use the sabre with effect, he at least would have been able to out-wrestle anything in the rebel army collar-and-elbow style, a game at which an Irishman only is a pastmaster. Related to General Sheridan and to John Tuite was the scholarly James Tuite, a member of parliament from Mullingar, West Meath, who was one of Parnell's right hand men in those dark days for home rule thirty years ago.

In Carrack churchyard, Ballamaque, at the base of the romantic Carrick Rock, lie the remains of the grand parents of General Sheridan as well as those of the grand parents of John Tuite and of his father and mother, who died only a few months apart about thirty-five years ago. All occupy plots close together and the spot is marked with a monument commemorating the family ties.

John Tuite is a well posted and a well read man. He digests the contents of the morning paper as cheerfully as he does his meals (and there is nothing astray with John's appetite). If you can force him to talk, he can give any one a rattling good argument on almost any up-to-date topic. He is a veritable book worm—not of the trashy novel kind—he is strong for history and volumes worth while.

John is an adept with musical instruments of the reed variety, and he, with his brothers, Peter and Frank, playing on flutes were conspicuous figures in political parades a few years ago. It is said of him that at parties if any one in the gathering was caught looking at him while playing, John immediately quit and could not "pucker" a note while being stared at. And the officer is yet as bashful and backward as he was in those days.

A tip to baseball space fighters for the magazine: Dig up the history of the Gainers and you will find they trace their ancestry back to the Phil H. Sheridan and John Tuite families.

Y., May 16.—Scores of men who can boast of the fact that their sires fought for American independence arrived in this city today to attend the 25th annual congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution. The Rain.

By WALT MASON.

The clouds are banked up overhead, the thunder rips and roars; the lightning hits old Jimpon's shed, and now the torren pour. The crany hens get wet and mad, the ducks rejoice and quack the patient cow looks very sad, and humps her bony back; the hired man, driven from the field, for shelter swiftly hies; old Phylvis can surely wield the faucet when he tries. In half an hour the rain is done, the growling thunder stops, and once again the good old sun is warming up the crops. In half an hour more good is wrought to every human cause, than all our statesmen ever brought by passing helpful laws. Old Phylvis sends down the juice, when he's blown off the foam, and once again high hangs the goose in every happy home. Not all the armies of the earth, nor fleets that sail the main, can bring us prizes that are worth a half hour's honest rain. No poet with his lyre can like the rain bring joy to men, or answer their desire. The sunflowers have new lease on life, the johnnie-jumpups jump. Now I must go and help my wife to prime the cistern pump.

JOHN T. ALEXANDER REVIEWS LIVE STOCK MARKET CONDITIONS

Well Known Commission Man Made
An Address Saturday Before Indiana
Cattle Feeders Association—
Thinks Free Meat Policy a Mistake

In addressing the Indiana Cattle Feeders association at LaFayette, Indiana Saturday John T. Alexander gave his opinion as to livestock conditions as follows:

Just at the present time our cattle feeders, raiser and producer, also our sheep man, is very much interested in the free meat importation from foreign countries. I have endeavored to write a short paper on the subject.

For the last few years the consumer of this country has raised such a howl of cry about the cost of meats and high cost of living that our government believed by admitting free meats it would reduce the price very materially for the consumer, but so far we fail to see where the consumer has derived any benefit whatever.

Fresh meat imports during March aggregated 26,175,003 lbs. of which 23,597,000 lbs were beef. The appraised value of the entire package was $2,349,063. During the nine months ending with March fresh beef imports were $7,447,214 lbs. of which only 3,804,111 lbs were dutiable. Fresh beef, pork and mutton imports during that period aggregated 93,410,000 lbs. valued at $7,837,992. The bulk of this came from Argentina, Canada being second and Australia third. Imports of bacon and hams during the nine months were $39,917 lbs. butter 6,344,533 lbs. cream 47,891,430 gallons and cheese 47,891,430 lbs. The appraised value of butter imports during the nine months was $1,567,003, against $219,653 during the same period last year.

Cattle Import Figures.
March cattle imports were 53,558 head, valued at $974,887, the bulk being Mexicans. Imports during the nine months ending with March were 669,593 head, valued at $14,740,000 of which 549,577 head, valued at $12,372,570, entered after the tariff was removed. During the same period last year imports were 258,341 head, valued at $4,210,075, of which all but 430 paid duty. March imports from Canada were only 3,904 head, valued at $189,435, while Mexico sent 49,652 head, with a valuation of $784,914. During the nine months ending in March imports of cattle from Canada were 210,481 head, valued at $7,125,610, while Mexico's contribution was 488,177, valued at $7,473,435. During the corresponding period of the previous year Canada sent 26,018 head and Mexico 232,203.

The supplies of South American frozen and chilled beef will be comparatively light from now on, as this is the fall season in that country and winter is coming on. The season for grass cattle is pretty well over with them for this year. While we understand they feed a great many on alfalfa hay during the winter season, it must be a small number in comparison with their grass cattle, and if they had a large supply to ship to this country during our summer season we could not use it in the extreme hot weather, as it could not be handled or used to any advantage, as it would become soft and flabby.

While the prospects are for light supplies of frozen and chilled meats from South America during the summer and early fall months, we can expect a much heavier supply next winter and next year than we had this year, as our large packers will be in much better shape to handle larger supplies.

It seems to me it was a mistake in admitting free meats into this country just at a time when our people realized that we were up against a great shortage of cattle in this country, and could afford to raise them even on our high-priced land in the middle West.

For many years cattle sold so low people could not afford to raise them on high-priced land, and the cattle feeder in the corn belt depended on cattle raised in the range country and on the cheap lands of the Southwest and northwest, but with the increased immigration and population and demand for cheaper lands, and with our government opening up thousands of acres for farm lands that were never fit for anything else but grazing purposes, the range cattle man was all but put out of business.

A Deficiency in Sight.
As beef productions decreased, consumption expanded until five years ago those in the business who possessed foresight realized that a supply deficiency was inevitable. Getting out of the cattle business had been a long drawn out process, however, and restoration of the industry was not to be accomplished by the simple process of waving a magic wand. The fact was realized along about 1912 that actual and prospective values of stock cattle warranted breeding operations with certainty of profit even on the high-priced lands of the corn belt. Considerable enthusiasm developed, calves were conserved and slaughter of cows arrested, but at that critical juncture Washington adopted the questionable and discouraging policy, so far as the grower was concerned, of putting cattle and beef on the free list, the immediate effect being discouragement and repression of the industry.

At the very moment when growers needed every possible incentive for breeding operations they were assured that cheap beef could be insured by the simple process of wiping out the tariff. I assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that this ill-advised legislative action defeated the very object sought, reduction of cost to the consumer; but for free trade thousands of small breeding herds would have been established and the 1914 calf crop would have furnished far more assurance of relief for the consumer than a few thousand tons of chilled frozen beef of dubious quality from South Amer-

UNIVERSITY HIGH WINS INTERSCHOLASTIC

SPEEDY MIDWAY ATHLETES TAKE HONORS BY WIDE MARGIN.

Better Balance of the University High Athletics Enables Them to Pass Oak Park and Lane, Their Nearest Competitors—La Grange Walks Away With Class B Honors.

Jacksonville won eight points in Class B. Sutherland won hammer throw, distance 154 feet 11 inches. Merle Reynolds won third in 220 hurdles. Jacksonville won fourth place in the relay, sixteen teams competing.

Champaign, Ill., May 16.—University high school of Chicago flashed to victory in Class A division of the state interscholastic championships today. The speedy Midwayites won the banner after an exciting race with Oak Park and Lane. The better balance of the University High aggregation enabled it to pass the suburbanites and the Technical boys. The victors had 42 1-2 points, giving them ample margin. LaGrange, headed by the two all-around cracks, Fey and Smart, walked away with the class B honors. Harrisburg, Centralia and Roodhouse were the chief contenders, but the LaGrange stars, proficient in so many events, piled up a total of 28 1-2 points.

Smart of LaGrange won the Ma-Wan-Da cup trophy for the individual star of the meet. He gathered 15 3-4 points. Husted of Roodhouse, Allman of Urbana, Carter of University High were some of the other individual stars. To Sinks of University High fell the glory of being the only record breaker of the big meet. He established a new half mile mark.

Stalker of Tuscola proved the stellar downstate 220 dash artist when he defeated the sturdy Davis of Centralia in the final. Davis, however, was set back for a false start. The time was a second faster than the class A event.

May of Lane added to his honors gained by winning the mile by taking the low hurdles. Harvey and Wallace of Oak Park landed in third and fourth places. Fey, LaGrange's all round star took the class B low hurdles.

The class B half mile races were slow in comparison with Spink's feat. Smart of LaGrange and Ketcham of West Aurora being the victors.

University High's relay team, headed by the fleet Carter won the half mile relay event in easy style from Lane the closest rival. Harrisburg took the class B relay in a neck and neck finish with West Aurora.

Won by Class A schools: University High 42 1-2, Oak Park 29, Lane 28, Springfield 15, Urbana 10, Crane 7, Freeport 6, Bloomington 6, Champaign 5, New Frier 4, East Aurora 3, Danville 3, Decatur 2, Rockford 2, Quincy 1 1-2, Joliet 1.

City High 42 1-2, Oak Park 29, Lane 28, Springfield 15, Urbana 10, Crane 7, Freeport 6, Bloomington 6, Champaign 5, New Frier 4, East Aurora 3, Danville 3, Decatur 2, Rockford 2, Quincy 1 1-2, Joliet 1.

YALE STRONGER THAN HARVARD ON TRACK AND ON FIELD

Well Balanced Blue Team Scores 66 1/2 Points to 37 1/2 Points For the Crimson Athletes.

Cambridge, Mass., May 16.—Yale was twice as strong as Harvard in their twenty-third dual track and field meet today.

The unusually well balanced blue team scored 66 1-2 points to 37 1-2 for the crimson. Three meet records established last year in the half mile, mile and two mile runs, were broken while the high hurdle time of 15 4-5 seconds made in 1899 was equalled for the sixth year.

Poucher of Yale in the mile run was the first to make new figures, cutting the time made last year by Norris of Yale by three seconds. The new record is 4 minutes and 23 seconds.

Then Captain Clark of the Yale team ran the 880 yards in one minute and 54 seconds flat, three fifths of a second faster than his time last year. A few minutes later R. St. B. Boyd of Harvard closed the full three seconds off his time of 9 minutes, 45 seconds, in the two mile event last year.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY CREW WINS DOUBLE HONORS ON WATER

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—The triumph of Harvard University's second varsity eight in the junior collegiate race and another victory by the same crew in the first eight oared shell event featured the twelfth annual regatta of the American Rowing association over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river today.

In the first race Harvard crossed the line half a length ahead of Yale. The race was a battle between Yale and Pennsylvania for second place and the blue gained the position. Annapolis naval academy was fourth and Princeton fifth.

An hour and forty-five minutes later the same Harvard eight beat out the union boat club of Boston by about four feet. The Union Boat Club crew gained second honors by a few feet from Annapolis varsity.

LAFAYETTE COLLEGE WINS. Lancaster, Pa., May 1.—Lafayette College won the middle-state intercollegiate track meet here today, scoring 23 points. Lebanon University scored 21 points; Rutgers 18; Haverford 17 1/2; Washington and Jefferson 17; Gettysburg, 11 1/2; Swarthmore 10; Franklin and Marshall 10; New York University 8; Stevens 8; Lehigh 6 1/2; Dickinson 2 1-2.

YALE CREW WINS RACE. Cambridge, May 16.—Yale defeated Harvard today in the race between the champion class crews of the two universities.

ISBELL PROTESTS GAME.
Des Moines, Iowa, May 16.—Manager Isbell protested today's game with Topeka at the end of a fourteen inning struggle which the visitors won 3 to 2.

The winning run was scored by Cochran when he was permitted to tally from second by Umpire Barr. A pitched ball struck Forsythe on the ankle while he was at the plate and careened off against the grand stand. Cochran raced home from second and Barr ruled the run counted because Forsythe had swung at the ball and it was not dead.

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

Ty Cobb made a home-run hit Friday night as an after-dinner orator at the annual banquet of the American Booksellers' association in New York. When called upon for a speech, he allowed that he was not the least bit nervous, but he confessed that oratorical efforts made him shaky in the limbs.

Ivy Wingo, catcher extraordinary, advertises that he is ready to flop into the Federal camp whenever the millionaires sight him to $7,000 yearly and a bonus of $5,000. Heretofore Ivy has been suspected of the embodiment of everything else in baseball except modesty. That tour with Comiskey and McGraw has made him almost as shy as a sweet young co-ed graduate.

A plot to unhorse Callahan as manager is suspected as being the cause for the collapse of the White Sox. At the time of the plumber's replacing Hugh Duffy as pilot it was bruited about Chicago that Harry Lord was much upset because the Old Roman had not deemed it wise to give him command. At that time rumors that the Maine hunter and fisherman was sulking would not down, and in some quarters this season it was said that Lord was indulging a recurrence of the fidgets. From the same source the deserter is accused of having created so much dissension that the offensive and defensive work of the Sox have been totally flabbergasted. This rumor may be true, and then again it may not; but the work of the South Siders, the past three weeks warrants the suspicion.

Special police at the Polo grounds in New York rescued Umpire Chill from a mob on Friday. Walsh of the Yankees was winged by one of Tiger Daus's wild heaves in the eighth inning, and the refusal of the cold storage arbiters to allow the ex-Athletic fielder to take his base started a rumpus, in which Chill was stormed with empty pop bottles and glasses. This is the same Chill whose work upon the western circuit this spring caused so much unfavorable comment. Ban Johnson was a witness to the orgy at New York, and it will not be surprising if Mr. Chill will shortly be nursing a can.

Chief Johnson will remain on the ground a few days longer. Injunction proceedings against him and the Federal league were again carried over until Tuesday.

The United States court of appeals at Cincinnati is hurrying along the appeal in the Killier case. The court on Friday announced that it would give the Federal league's prayer for a reversal of Judge Sessions' decision, also the motion for a new trial and an injunction, an audience early in June.

Jack Johnson, who dented the face of George Galvin, manager of boxer Jim Johnson, in Paris last February, has settled with Galvin out of court for damages. Galvin had made some slighting remarks concerning the extrajudicial Jack, within the hearing of a cafe where Jack was satisfying an habitual thirst, and hustled the champion on the west path. Johnson beat Galvin almost into a pulp before bystanders interfered.

Champion Ritchie regards his coming mixup with Charley White of so little importance that he is doing his training on golf links about Chicago.

Champion Quimet finished nowhere (thirteenth) in the contest for the St. George cup at the Sandwich course, Sandwich, Eng., Friday, the trophy being captured by the Scotch player, Jerome D. Travers led the Americans, going over the course in 77 strokes.

Joe Lake, during the lay off of Killier owing to injuries, rotates with Fiene in the right pasture for Minneapolis, and the way the ex-Brooklyn, ex-Tiger is swatting the pill gives opposing gumen palpitation of the heart. Up four times Friday against Kahler and Frost at Cleveland, he slapped out four hits, one for two corners. Fiene also is batting in bang-up fashion.

Flame Delhi's salary wing may be a bit glassy, but there is nothing wrong with his batting glims. The unlucky redhead is one the heaviest sluggers among Tebeaus' Kansas City Blues.

The castor oil edict of President Fisher is causing a serious hitch in the preparations for the Indianapolis speed meeting. A strong protest has been registered from the French entrants who have paid large sums to pilot cars in the races. If they are not to be allowed to use the refined lubricant for which their cars are specially built, Goux and Boillot stand to lose $15,000 entrance fee, and before submitting silently to a hold up, which their managers term President Fisher's order, they are going to put up a vigorous fight.

Kid Tom Daly was badly rattled in the game at Washington while backstopping for Sox hurlers and the Senators experienced little trouble in the burglary line before Callahan yanked him and gave the tribe of Griffith an opportunity to operate on Ray Schalk.

FRANK MORAN ARRIVES.
Paris, May 16.—Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh pugilist arrived here today and was met by a number of sportsmen. He went immediately to Butry where he will train for his fight with Jack Johnson on June 27.

LAJOIE'S BATTING SLUMP AT SEASON'S START LOOKS BAD.

Lajoie, one of the sluggers of the Cleveland Naps, has so far this season batted 100 per cent below his usual standard. Fans are beginning to wonder whether his day as a crackjack big league player is over.

NEWS FORECASTS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, May 16.—The peace negotiations and other possible developments of the Mexican situation promise to monopolize public attention during the coming week. Pennsylvania's spirited campaign for the nomination of candidates for United States senator, representatives in congress and governor and their state officers will end with the primary election Tuesday. The dominant feature of the campaign is the fight of United States senator Enrose for renomination.

Also of interest to the politicians will be the meeting of the Democratic convention of South Carolina, which is to assemble in Columbia. The convention is expected to take action with reference to changes in the primary system, which will virtually decide whether Ellison D. Smith is to be re-elected to the United States senate or succeeded by Governor Cole L. Blease.

The English amateur championship, the principal golfing event in Europe, is to begin Monday on the links at Sandwich. The tournament will be followed with much interest in this city, of the Atlantic because of the fact that the participants will include Francis Quimet, open golf champion of the United States; Jerome D. Travers, the national amateur champion, and several other noted American players.

The trial of Dr. W. T. Elam, a physician of St. Joseph, Mo., charged with the murder of W. Putnam Kramer, a Chicago advertising solicitor, in a room in a Kansas City hotel last November, is scheduled to begin in Kansas City Monday. The 126th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, commonly known as the Presbyterian church, North, will begin in Chicago Thursday. On the same day the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterians will meet in Kansas City and that of the Reformed Presbyterians in Cincinnati.

Other gatherings of the week will include the International Good Roads congress, in Montreal; the annual convention of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' association, in New Orleans; the annual congress of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, in Syracuse, and the annual meeting of the American Federation of Arts, in Chicago.

Pittsburgh, May 16.—All of the big stables and many newcomers are included in the entry to the stakes to be raced at the Michigan State fair Grand Circuit meeting September 14 to 18. The entry list shows 22 in the $5,000 trot and 25 in the $5,000 pace but has the biggest entry of the year in the free-for-all pace, eleven being named.

New York, May 16.—The New York National League club today purchased second baseman Brainerd of the Austin, Texas club.

FRANKLIN VISITORS.

Visitors from Franklin yesterday included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. George Seymour, Leonard Seymour, Walter Morgan, John Foster, Charles Bateman, Ethel Luttrell, Mrs. P. Roberts, Mrs. W. E. Wright.

W. D. Henry of Woodson was transacting business in the city yesterday.

STRAY TOPICS FROM OLD NEW YORK

New York, May 16.—A pedestrian in New York City nowadays runs a greater chance of losing his life or parting with a limb than if he were engaged in almost any of the so-called hazardous occupations—modern warfare, for instance. According to figures given out by the National Highway Protective Society, forty-five persons, of whom twenty-three were children, were killed in this city last month by automobiles, street cars or horse-drawn vehicles. This is a larger number of persons than were killed on the American side in the capture of Vera Cruz.

New York is likely to have during the coming year a new amusement building which will be chiefly devoted to indoor skating and other features of winter sports. The idea will be copied from the famous ice palaces in Berlin and other cities of Europe. The enterprise is being promoted by a coterie of young men headed by Irving Brokaw, whose skill as a fancy skater is well known. A site for the proposed structure has been selected in Park avenue, just north of the Grand Central Station. The preliminary plans provide for a main skating rink covering the entire ground floor of the building, with seating accommodations for 3,000 spectators.

A deputation of the Protestant Episcopal church is to leave here soon to make a tour of Europe, for the purpose of officially inviting the church denominations of each country to take part in the World Conference for the Consideration of Questions touching Faith and Order, on which work has been in progress for four years. This conference, which is likely to be the largest and most important religious gathering in history, is to be the first step in an attempt to abolish denominational differences and to bring together in one general association all the church, Protestant and Roman Catholic, of the world.

One of the most notable acquisitions of the present season just made by the American Museum of Natural History is a collection of Peruvian antiquities, including examples of early pottery, textiles, and slings of primitive design, numbering more than 700 specimens. The archaeologists are particularly enthusiastic over the collection of pottery. It was unearthed in Nazca, a small town in southwestern Peru, and examples of this art, according to authorities, date back 3,000 to 4,000 years ago, before the occupation of Peru by the Incas. The acquisition of this valued collection by the American Museum has led the government of Peru to pass a new law which practically prohibits the exportation of works of art from that country.

Preparations are being made for the formal opening early next month of the new $475,000 Railroad Y. M. C. A. building at forty-ninth street and Park avenue. The building is to be one of the finest and best equipped of its kind in the country. It will be fitted up as a modern club of the best class and in addition will contain class rooms, lecture rooms, a large library, other features in connection with the educational work carried on by the Y. M. C. A. William K. Vanderbilt, Frederick W. Vanderbilt and Alfred G. Vanderbilt each gave $100,000 for the building, and the New York Central and New Haven railroads together gave $175,000.

The state commission appointed several years ago to investigate port conditions here and in Europe confesses in its report, which has just been made public, that it is unable to determine absolutely which is the leading port of the world, so evenly is maritime business distributed among New York, London and Hamburg. In this connection it will surprise many persons to learn that Galveston, Texas ranks second to New York in the export business of American ports. As a result of the increase in cotton shipments during the past few years Galveston has risen from sixth to second place, forging ahead of Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans.

The Rev. Dr. Antoinette Louise Brown Blackwell, who is probably the oldest living suffragette, will enter upon her ninety-third year next week. Her birthday anniversary will be made the occasion for a quiet celebration at home in Elizabeth, N. J. Mrs. Blackwell was born in Henrietta, N. Y., May 29, 1825. She studied at Oberlin Theological Seminary, and was ordained in 1853. She was one of the speakers at the first woman's rights convention in Worcester, Mass., in 1849. When nearly eighty years of age she went to the Holy Land alone and brought back a bottle of water from the River Jordan with which to baptize her grandsons. In the scores of marriage ceremonies at which she has officiated she has always made it a rule to omit the word "obey" from the service unless the bride expressly requests that it be used. "Which has been very seldom," says the venerable suffragette.

The dissolution of the Standard Oil "trust" evidently has had no ill effect on the earning capacity of the Standard Oil Company of New York. In the first annual report it has ever issued to its stockholders, covering the calendar year 1913 the company reports net profits of $16,212,915 for the twelve months. This is equivalent to 21.6 per cent on the capital stock outstanding. In previous years the only statements made public by the company were balance sheets, and deductions drawn from that for 1912 placed the net income in the neighborhood of $15,000,000 or more than $1,000,000 less than the profits for last year.

The educational features of the Forest Products Exhibition to open at the Grand Central Palace next week promise to form a connecting link between the national business interests and the academic side of the wood industry. As a result of negotiations with the school authorities of New York, arrangements have been made for the introduction of the exhibition features and lessons as classroom topics in grammar grades and high schools. One selected pupil from each class in each high school will visit the exhibition. They will view the demonstrations by attaches of the government exhibit and the vivid motion pictures. The pupils will return to their schools to deliver reports of their impressions to classmates, which will be in effect juvenile lectures on forestry.

"After the Girl," a musical comedy which has scored a success at the Gaiety theatre in London, is to be brought to America by the Shuberts.

E. S. Sinclair was in the city yesterday from Alexander.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Cecilia Loftus has returned to vaudeville. Isabel Irving is appearing in "Under Cover."

A. H. Woods has a new play called "He Came Up Smiling." Martin Harvey's Canadian tour is reported a record breaking success. It is rumored in New York that Maude Adams may be seen in vaudeville next season.

"Bunny Pulls the Strings" is now being produced by stock companies in the larger cities.

"The Lights of London" and "The Silver King" are two old time successes scheduled for revival in London soon.

Charles Hawtrey is to produce a new play in London called "The Things We'd Like to Know," written by Monckton Hoffo.

Charles Rann Kennedy is writing a new play which Edith Wynne Matthison will use during her stay in California this summer.

Margaret Mayo, the author of "Baby Mine," has completed a dramatization of Edward Salisbury

Field's story entitled "Twin Beds." A vaudeville version of Oscar Wilde's "Florentine Tragedy" is being prepared for use next season on the Weith vaudeville circuit.

Elaine Hammerstein, daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, is to appear next season in a play by Richard Harding Davis and Jules Goodman.

Janet Beecher, who appeared in "The Concert" with Leo Ditrichstein, and whose recent engagement was in "The Great Adventure," has been re-engaged by David Belasco for a term of years. She will create the leading roles in some of his new productions.

The Shuberts and William A. Brady are planning another Gilbert and Sullivan revival, with "The Yeoman of the Guards." It will be produced with the cast of the Gilbert and Sullivan organization now on tour, headed by De Wolf Hopper.

Klaw and Erlanger's first musical production for next season will be made in August. It will be an adaptation of Harry B. Smith of "Le Fils Surnaturel," a play by Greville d'Anceurt and Maurice Vaucaire, with music by Ivan Caryll. Frank Lator will create the leading comedy part.

NORSE CENTENNIAL
WIDELY OBSERVED.
Minneapolis, Minn., May 16.—Delegations representing a million and a half of Americans of Norwegian birth assembled in the Twin Cities today for the opening of a great national celebration of the "Sjunde Mai," which is the Norwegian holiday corresponding to the Fourth of July in the United States. The celebration this year is given added significance by the fact that it marks the centennial anniversary of Norway's independence.

It is just one hundred years since a representative body of Norwegians, including members of the nobility, the clergy, the professions and the great body of peasants assembled at the little town of Eidsvold, and there promulgated their constitution or "Grundlov," which declared Norway a free and independent nation. For more than four hundred years previous to that time Norway has been a province of dependency of Denmark. Then, under the treaty of Kiel, Norway was turned over to Sweden as a reward for the services of that country to the allies in their campaign against Napoleon. Immediately their independence Sweden declared that the Norwegians had declared to take the country by force of arms. Several minor skirmishes took place between the forces of the two countries, but before any battle had been fought an agreement was reached which provided that the two countries should form a union under one king. By this agreement Norway was to retain her constitution, with control of her government, army, navy and other branches. This union was never satisfactory to Norway and was terminated by that country on June 7, 1905.

Easy to Misjudge Remedy You Need

In Overcoming Blood Trouble Do Not Be Fooled By Mere Claims.

Study the Game and You Will Understand Why Some Things Are Deceptive.

In treating any blood disorder the fundamental fact must be observed that the aim and object of the medicine used is to permit a hit, a home run and a sure, safe hit every time.

Now the propulsive effect of S. S. S. is to regulate the blood formation, to assist in development of tissue and to have a decided bearing upon the lymphatic influence, all of which is in the promotion of blood health. And this propulsive effect will be similar to the straight ball pitched to insure a safe hit and not the deceptive gyrations designed to fool the batter.

S. S. S. is a plain, straight blood purifier. It is not a fanciful mixture to move the bowels and thus falsely play upon susceptible minds. It is not a nerve excitant to exhilarate for the moment and then die away. It contains none of those mineral drugs which dry up the tissues. In other words, it does not play to the bleachers nor to the fans. It is just a wholesome, powerful, searching blood remedy, one ingredient of which serves the active purpose of arousing each cellular part of the tissues to select from the blood the nutriment or materials required for renewal of health.

S. S. S. is prepared from nature's own materials, not an ounce of drugs being used. And yet it is more potent, more powerful, more searching and more productive of restorative results than from the most active of all the minerals employed in medicine.

Its action by elimination of the irritating poisons that infect the blood, is one of the very important things to know. You can get S. S. S. at any drug store, but take no other so-called blood purifier falsely claimed "just as good."

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 600 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice. It will be worth your while to do so.

Putting on the Fat

Out on my farm I am giving a practical demonstration of what can be accomplished with the Wood's Grain Softener.

There are 43 cattle in the bunch. Each steer is getting a peck of corn daily. It is ground, cob and all and then cooked. In addition to the corn, each steer gets about nine pounds of clover hay a day and straw is near them all the time. A man with long experience, who has been watching these cattle, says they are putting on three to four pounds a day. They are sure making good money and the reason is that corn prepared in my cooker has far more nutriment value than fed in the ordinary way. Come and see these cattle.

ILLINOIS MERCHANT RESTORED BY WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY

Friedrich Redeker, After Long Illness, Says He is Gaining Weight.

Friedrich Redeker, a business man of Arlington, Ill., was a victim of stomach and digestive troubles. He went to a hospital for an operation for another trouble. When he recovered from the operation he found his stomach worse and his heart affected.

He took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. He got his appetite back and gained strength right away. He wrote:

"I owe you some words of congratulation for your stomach remedy. I could not eat anything but soft food and the bloating from gas got so bad that at one time I had a fainting spell for three hours. I went to one of your Chicago drug stores and got your remedy. I took the remedy and the next morning was relieved. I have taken seven bottles so far. I am getting stronger and can eat anything that comes along."

Letters like that come from stomach sufferers in all parts of the state; in fact from all over the United States.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Armstrong's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfr. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

CHORUS OF "ELECTRA OF SOPHOCLES" COMPOSED OF YOUNG LADIES FROM ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE.

The final dress rehearsals are now being held for this play which is to be given Tuesday, May 19th at 4:30 p. m., on the campus of Illinois College and they give promise of a highly pleasurable and successful performance. The chorus of young ladies, especially composed by Miss Carrie Dunlap form a very attractive feature of the drama. Another feature which is quite unique is the arrangement of the theatre and audience to conform to that used by Sophocles when the play was first given over 2400 years ago. Both the chorus songs and evolutions, and the action of the drama take place, not on a raised stage but in an orchestra circle level with the ground. The audience as in antiquity, is arranged on raised seats on three sides of this circle.

CONDITION OF "BIG ED" WALSH.
Chicago, May 16.—In big league circles there seems to have been considerable speculation of late as to the real condition of "Big Ed" Walsh, the great spitball artist of the Chicago White Sox. Walsh says his long layoff has put him in fine fettle and that he will be able to play as good a game as ever before the season is many weeks older. Manager Callahan declares he is satisfied the "Big Red" will be there draped in tinsel just as soon as the weather conditions become right.

Walsh has been much missed by "big yard" fans, for there is no more popular player in the game than the big damp ball flinger. As an "iron man" he had no superior. He was always ready to jump into the game to relieve a faltering mate, and he seldom failed to furnish a high class exhibition of flinging, no matter how many innings he may have pitched the previous day.

Tuesday next will be Walsh's 32nd birthday. He was born in the coal regions of Pennsylvania and worked in the mines when a youth. His leisure was devoted to baseball and he made quite a reputation as a pitcher for amateur teams around his home town. His first professional engagement was with the Meriden, Conn., team. He made good in the Nutmeg state town and the next year he was signed by Newark. In 1914 he joined the White Sox and soon stood in front rank or major league pitching stars. In 1906 he won the world's championship for Comiskey.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

Monday morning, May 11th, occurred the annual May breakfast. The students all had breakfast on the campus that morning, cooking a portion of their meals over bonfires.

May Day was appropriately celebrated this year before an audience of two thousand people. In spite of the threatening weather, the afternoon was ideal for such a pageant. The physical director is planning to give an entirely new program for next year's May Day. Plans are now being laid for the carrying out of this idea.

Professor Oldys' bird lecture given on Tuesday night was a revelation to the many bird lovers in the audience.

The college is having a number of additional bleachers made to be used by the spectators in the athletic tournament to be given Monday, May 25th.

Miss Frances Freeman, who has been teaching home economics in the township high school in Marion, Ill., is a guest at the college. She was a member of the 1913 class.

A number of the students of the college will take part in the Greek play to be given under the auspices of the Classical club of Jacksonville next Tuesday afternoon on the Illinois college campus.

FUNERAL FOR CHARLES W. POST
VERY LARGELY ATTENDED

Dr. R. O. Post of Jacksonville Paid Personal Tribute to His Cousin's Memory.

The funeral of the late Charles W. Post held at Battle Creek, Michigan, was a very notable occasion, attended as it was by thousands of people, many of them from points many hundred miles distant from Battle Creek. The papers published in Battle Creek devoted pages to the report of the funeral. The business affairs of the city were silenced while the services were in progress and three hundred business men marched as a guard of honor from the home to the Congregational church. Rev. R. O. Post of this city, cousin of the deceased, had a prominent part in the service and was assisted by a number of other ministers.

The following with reference to Rev. Mr. Post's tribute to the deceased is taken from the Battle Creek Inquirer:

"The Rev. Roswell O. Post was visibly affected as he rose to speak. His was less of a funeral sermon than the heart tribute of one who spoke from his own deep love and sorrow. 'Charles Post,' he said, 'we love you because you first loved us.' 'To you a most sacred and most sacred and yet a sad task have I come,' said Mr. Post. 'I heard and have responded to a voice crying over the 700 miles to come and lay the hand of love upon this casket. It is a sweet task but it is one unutterably sad. The utterance of a heart that loved one who was loved by that heart—the farthest removed, farther than the east and the west, are my words from a professional God knows—but tender, dear and true, please God.'"

"There is no human that can play Atlas to the world. His shoulders were broad, his frame work most structural, but to uphold the many enterprises carrying even the minutest details in his mind and bear them on and on is the Atlas task that Charles W. Post, or no other man that ever lived could do. His genius was his undoing."

"He was born in the sweetest, most beautiful cradle that was ever rocked in America. I remember with love approaching reverence, my father and my mother but Rollin Post and his wife Carrie were father and mother such as I have never known—and because 'Uncle Rollin' and 'Aunt Carrie' wanted me to be here today I am here. You might not agree with, you might disagree almost violently with Charles Post, but that blue eye would look up and those lips would turn and the rainbow of God's presence would come across his face, and that smile, and you would love him irresistibly. So not of love that I lay upon his memory. I come speaking not for myself alone and not alone for the sorely afflicted ones nor for your hearts that throbb here this day but a simple, sincere true word of love that is never mortal, I lay upon his memory. Charles Post we love you, because you first loved us."

The large number of persons other than residents who attended the funeral included representatives of the American Manufacturers Association, railroad officials, advertising men, and brokers from various Eastern cities. Roswell Post, Jr. and Miss Florence Ward of this city also attended the service.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

The recent announcement that Judge E. P. Brockhouse will not be a candidate for re-election has aroused a good deal of interest as to possible candidates for that office. It has been understood that, while there will be other aspirants, that Judge Brockhouse would also be in the lists. Henry W. English announced himself several weeks ago as a candidate and it seems to be generally understood that J. O. Priest and possibly William E. Thomson will be other candidates. T. Forest Smith, acting state's attorney, has also been mentioned but he has had nothing to say on the subject, thus far.

Although John J. Reeve said yesterday that he had not even thought of the matter, the rumor has been current that he would seek the Republican nomination. Mr. Reeve's term as postmaster expires shortly and while the date he is to retire from office has not been definitely fixed the supposition is that he will a little later on, give way to some member of the party in power. He will of course, then again actively take up the practice of law and if he should aspire to be county judge and should be elected, the fact would only interfere with legal work in the probate courts. However, Mr. Reeve is very emphatic in his statement that he has given no thought to the matter and that whatever talk there may be about him with reference to the post, is from his friends.

There is a general understanding too that the progressive party may have a candidate for judge as a meeting of Progressives held at Dunlap Friday when it was practically agreed that a whole county ticket will be nominated. There are several well known lawyers who have been identified with that party for the past year, but it is hardly probable that they would care to enter heartily into a three cornered contest.

No announcement has been made as to when Postmaster John J. Reeve will retire from office. It has been tacitly understood for some months that his successor will be Ralph I. Dunlap but when the change will take place is a matter of conjecture. Mr. Reeve's commission expires May 28 but it is certain that he will not retire from office just at that date as the preliminaries for the appointment of a new postmaster will take more than that which will elapse between the present and that date. The president must send to the senate the name of the man chosen for the office. Then the matter is referred to the committee on post offices and post roads for their investigation and after the report is made to the senate as a whole and the appointment approved, then the name must be sent to the Postmaster General. He will forward the blanks to the appointee in order that the necessary bond may be filed and after this preliminary is gone through and the bond has been received in Washington and approved by the Postmaster General, the commission will be sent to the new Postmaster. It can readily be seen that this procedure and the accompanying red tape will take a number of weeks to accomplish.

BACK FROM CALIFORNIA.
Dr. J. M. Retter has come back to his old home and is visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cridland on North Prairie street.

As is well known to our older people Dr. Retter used to be a dentist here, being for years at the North West corner of West State and Kosciusko streets, then he bought the old Buckley place, now occupied by Mrs. Dobyns—the doctor took that about 1865. Then he and Mr. B. F. Stevenson opened an addition called Stevenson and Retter's, opening Pine street from West State to West Lafayette avenue.

Sometime later the doctor went to Chicago and then returned to Jacksonville again, occupying the present Dr. Pitner place. Dr. Retter then went to California, and is now upon our streets again, not so badly out of repair or so old looking, in spite of being almost 91 years of age.

Dr. Retter was a brother of Jas. R. Matthews' mother, Miss Retter having named the elder Cynis Matthews. Another sister is Mrs. Joseph Cridland, and a brother was Benson Retter, who passed away a few years ago.

Mrs. Retter, wife of the doctor, was a sister of John W. and James A. Brown, the latter living latterly in Kentucky. Dr. Retter's eldest daughter, Miss Lizzie, became the wife of Charles A. Turner, and entered into her rest about twenty-five or more years ago. She was one of the prettiest and brightest young ladies ever graduated from the old J. F. A.

Dr. Retter fails to see many of the immediate associates of his old time residence here, but there are others of the younger generation, glad to welcome him back to his former home.

DISCUSSES HISTORICAL PHASES OF WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

L. E. Wackerle Gives Interesting Talk to Physics Class at the Women's College on Wireless and Its Inventions.

Marconi is by no means deserving of the entire credit for the invention of wireless telegraphy, pointed out L. E. Wackerle, electrician at Woman's college, in a talk to the college class in physics and a number of visitors Saturday afternoon. In fact some features of the apparatus invented by him have been superseded and other principles which have made wireless possible were worked out by experts before Marconi's time.

Mr. Wackerle performed a number of experiments dealing with the discovery of the Hertz, or electromagnetic waves. He showed the original nickel filling coherer, invented by the Frenchman Branly and used by Marconi, and described the latest methods for detecting the waves. He described the different methods of tuning sets of apparatus so that no one can pick up the waves but the operator for whom they are intended.

The first recorded instance of a proposal to telegraph or send signals without wires occurs in the writings of Silva, a Spaniard, who read a paper to the Academy of Sciences on the Applications of Electricity to Telegraphy, in 1795. His plan was to use the sea as the conductor. In 1838 Steinheil of Bavaria discovered that a current could be conducted through the earth without artificial connection, a principle which was used by Preece of England in 1892 for sending signals five and one-half miles. Marconi began his experiments in 1895 and wireless was first made use of in a commercial way in 1897.

The local Radio club is continuing its work and although somewhat hampered by lack of funds is planning improvements which will make the station on the top of the Avers building much more efficient. It is proposed to erect a much higher pole upon which a light will be hung. When the time signals are flashed out at 10 o'clock each evening from Arlington, W. Va., they can in this way be seen all over the city.

OAK LAWN SANITORIUM FACILITIES OPEN TO PHYSICIANS

May Place Patients There and Have Entire Direction of the Treatment—Methods Approved by Eminent Authorities.

As previously mentioned Oak Lawn Sanatorium is now wholly devoted to the treatment of diseases of the bladder and kindred ailments and the institution is equipped in a very modern way. The system of treatment and the methods used are of the type approved by the leading physicians of this country and Europe as being the most effective for the curing of this class of diseases. Patients are received by the management for treatment by the directing physician, but other physicians may place patients at the sanatorium and have them wholly under their own care and supervision. A number of local physicians have already availed themselves of the advantages of the sanatorium in treating special cases. The methods used and the equipment of the institution were especially designed for the treatment of diseases of the bladder, diabetes, hardening of the arteries, cystitis, gout, rheumatism and all diseases related to intestinal toxemia.

When you have that roof repaired be sure to ask for "Perfection" shingles from British Columbia. They cost no more and will last longer. Crawford Lumber Co.

FIRE DESTROYS RIDDER HOME.

Residence Near Alexander is Completely Burned Early Saturday Morning.

The residence of Joseph Ridder was completely destroyed by fire Saturday morning, between 12 and 1 o'clock, when the members of the family narrowly escaped from the building.

The fire was discovered by one of the daughters, who heard the crackle of burning wood, and she aroused the other members of the family, who escaped with only a little clothing. The flames are thought to have originated in the attic but the cause is unknown. The house was a two story, eight room, frame structure and was erected by Mr. Ridder about eighteen years ago, when his other residence was burned. The building and contents, together with a smokehouse, were completely destroyed. Only $1,000 insurance was carried on the buildings.

BOILER CONCERN WILL CONSIDER JACKSONVILLE OFFER SERIOUSLY

Question of Freight Rates Will Be Large Factor in Deciding Where Plant Will Be Moved From Present Quarters.

Mention was made recently that there was a possibility that Jacksonville may secure boiler works now established in a large city but which are probably to be moved to a city about this size. Bernard Gause is the Jacksonville business man who happened to hear of this possibility and he immediately made an argument to the general manager of the firm in behalf of this city.

The proposition was received in such a way that Mr. Gause then took the matter up with various bankers and business men who were hearty in their approval of the general plan and were of one mind as to the possibilities of the city meeting the conditions which would be necessary, if the company can be secured at all.

The management of this concern as already mentioned is not looking for any bonus and will not locate in any city, no matter what the offer made unless freight rates and accessibility make the location desirable.

After conferences with various business men Mr. Gause addressed the following letter to the concern and yesterday received the answer which is given in part herewith. Both letters indicate that if anything at all is done with the proposition that it will be handled in strictly business ways by both parties to the transaction. The name of the boiler concern is not made public as the management does not desire the question of their removal from the present location discussed widely.

Offers To Meet Conditions.
"Since I have returned home I promptly took up the subject we discussed with reference to the removal of your factory to this city with a number of our leading financial people and they assure me that we can undoubtedly meet the demands you might require for moving to this locality, and I also had a private talk with several of the city commissioners as to what assistance they would be willing to give along this line and I believe that it can be arranged that no 'City or County Taxes' would be collected from you this year in connection with the removal of your factory to this city, which as a rule is about 50c per hundred dollars on the 'assessed valuation' a low water rate will be given you. I am assured at about 8 to 10c per thousand gallons.

The proposition I talked about included the building of a suitable building such as you would require together with an ample site for the handling of your business this will be furnished you on the basis of an agreeable contract which are usually made in cases of this kind free of all expense to your company.

"Before we could raise money to meet terms that you may require it would be necessary to formulate this contract in order that we would have a definite proposition to work upon, in order to secure the money. As I see the matter this community will give you every encouragement to make this move, and I believe that it will bear close investigation upon your part, as we can put you on a much better basis for labor, fuel and many other items for conducting your business than I think you can secure in a city as large as you are in. A site can be secured that will provide ample railroad switching facilities and close connections can be made with each of the four railroads which enter this city and the coal for your plant would be switched at your doors. Again I believe that the class of labor which is available for your plant would be a desirable as you could possibly wish for. Personally I would like very much to assist you make this move, and I believe that no city will offer you anything better than this place will at the present time and if you would care to have me do so I can have a committee of business men from here come down and go over the proposition with you in St. Louis and if you would prefer to do so, or you can come up and look the situation over first just as it seems best for you to do. Matters of this kind require time to promote to final completion and as I see it these preliminaries taken up now will help the progress of the case to a conclusion by a time that would provide you this equipment at a time that would not interfere with a busy season in making a change."

"Trusting that I may hear from you further in this regard, I am,

"Yours truly,

Boiler Concern Must Be "Shown."

Mr. Bernard Gause,

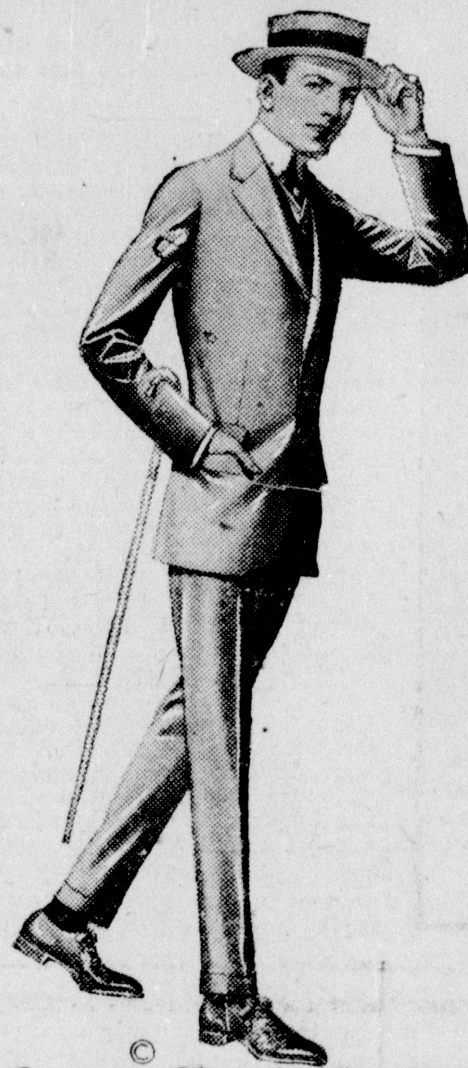

Jacksonville, Ill.

"I am today in receipt of your letter of the 14th and have read same with attention and considerable interest. In all events you can rest assured that I am going to give your proposition my most careful consideration. You will, no doubt, understand that it will be necessary for me to determine many things in my selection, viz, freight rate from mill to factory, freight rate from factory to destination of our territory, cost of fuel laid down at factory and other things that will develop in the course of my investigation.

"When I get down to the proposition sufficiently far, I will advise you and if we decide on your location will give you ample time to swing same. In the meantime if anything develops, I will be pleased to have you advise me and in turn I will keep you posted."
